

The New Animal Forum presents... An evening with

Leah Lemieux

Featuring a special screening of award-winning documentary

THE COVE

*A must-see for anyone who cares about dolphins,
the oceans they live in and the planet we share.*

Tuesday 13th April, 2010

Birdwood House, Downstairs at 7pm

£3 donation to Save Japan's Dolphins on the door.

Canadian author and activist, Leah Lemieux has lectured, written about and worked on dolphin protection, education and conservation issues for the past twenty years, collaborating with individuals and NGOs from a number of countries, including the Jane Goodall Institute's Roots & Shoots Environmental and Humanitarian program.

Following the screening of THE COVE, Leah will give a talk about why this powerful documentary has galvanized and inspired audiences around the globe. She will introduce her new book:

REKINDLING THE WATERS: The Truth About Swimming with Dolphins and offer a Q&A.

The New Animal Forum is a regional network of animal campaigners, dedicated to improving the lot of our non-human animal kin. We meet four times a year to hear a specialist speaker and to share knowledge. All are welcome. For further information, please email: heidimstephenson@yahoo.com
